Energize What You're Already Doing.

Now it's easy to partake of the Web's power and energy. Consider the wonderful things many congregations already do on the Web.

Organizing their fundraising and group activities. Conducting online discussions and commemorations. And, of course, distributing sermons and church news. Now you can easily do it, too. Our new Web Start Kit lets you enjoy sophisticated features, without any development costs. And without having to know a thing about web technology.

With Beliefnet Web Services – getting there will be easy.

We're dedicated to helping faith organizations get online — enabling you to reach out to your community more thoughtfully than ever.

Using our templates and easy guidance at your own computer, you can design a site that matches your particular needs.

Whatever you put on it, we'll help you keep it powerful and up-to-date. E-mail, for example. Not just a church mailbox, but a system where your entire community can truly communicate. Fundraising? Sure. Just want to get Sunday's sermon online with some added reference?

That's okay, too.

What else could your Church do with a website?

- Describe your organization, goals, services, etc. in full detail
- Organize and Publicize special church events
- Cultivate community bonds through Prayer Circles, Discussion Boards, Celebrations and Commemorations
- Securely accept credit card contributions
- Coordinate with charities and disaster relief

You know your needs. We understand them. Beliefnet Web Services is part of Beliefnet.com — a new, broadly praised site devoted to discussion of religion, spirituality and morality. Beliefnet.com presents articles, commentary and news from leading clergy and other thinkers, to support and enhance what local spiritual leaders are already doing.

Would Your Church Have a Website?

Take the "luck" out of potluck dinners.

Beliefnet Web Services enables you to communicate more robustly, more effectively. Planning events and getting the message out to all of your congregation will be a breeze, eliminating the wasted resources and lost time.

Our content – delivered fresh daily.

You may want to link directly to Beliefnet's innovative editorial content, including daily news and features customized for relevance to your church. Also provide access to our online library — over 1,500 features from columnists and leading religious figures.

Your doors will always be open.

With your website — and its own domain name — your message will always be accessible. The very low cost of a Beliefnet-built site makes it a sensible investment for any congregation.

You can do it. Let us show you the way.

Let us show you everything that's available, and how it can be incorporated into a site that is truly yours in both style and function.
